

American University Project Plaque is a curated collection of markers found on American University's main campus located in Washington, DC. Chartered by an act of Congress in 1893, American University offers a rich history from the birth place of the United States Army Chemical Corps in World War I to JFK's policy declaration for banning nuclear weapons in 1963 to various famed speakers and lecturers.

Explore

American University Project Plaque at <http://auprojectplaque.omeka.net/>

Objective: Find plaques around the main campus to create a digital collection for the Archives of American University

Online platforms: Omeka site; Wikimedia Commons

Means: iPhone 7

Outcome: The collection consists of 60+ plaques categorized into smaller categories like Art, Class Gift, Dedication, The American University Centennial, and more.

This project will grow as plaques within individual buildings and additional campuses are added.

Features on the Collection's Homepage

FEATURED ITEM

Site of the American University Address by John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

SITE OF THE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY ADDRESS

COMMENCEMENT JUNE 10, 1963

DELIVERED BY JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

PRESIDENT OF THE...

FEATURED COLLECTION

The American University Centennial (1893-1993)

